

Are you looking for hotels in Canterbury?

By Clint Jhonson

For those of you who plan on visiting Canterbury in the near future, you should know that you are in for a real treat. Canterbury is one of the most interesting locations in the entire England, enticing visitors with numerous cultural landmarks and historic sites to discover. Start looking at hotels in Canterbury and plan your vacation around the sites of historic interest, indulging yourself in the beauty of Canterbury and everything it has to offer. Once you have found a Canterbury hotel you consider to be suitable, check out the numerous attractions recommended to be visited while you're there.

The greatest thing about all hotels in Canterbury is that they are situated quite close to the majority of historic sites and important monuments. You can sign up for guided tours and thus explore the city from the historic point of view, visiting some of the oldest buildings in the city. As you probably know, this city has been made famous by Chaucer's work Canterbury Tales and given this fact, you should not hesitate to visit the museum dedicated to this fascinating world. As soon as you have found a Canterbury hotel, make sure you put the Canterbury Tales Museum on the list of things to visit. Take your time to discover everything Canterbury has to offer to its visitors, take a walk and notice for yourself how the old blends perfectly with the new.

There are many fine hotels in Canterbury and Thanington Hotel seems to be one of the most splendid choices. Located at a short distance from the Canterbury Cathedral a major point of interest, part of World Heritage Site and one of the oldest structures of its kind in England this Canterbury hotel entices with its comfort and affordability. It is also situated quite close from the center of the city, the building originating somewhere around 1800s. While there are a lot of hotels in Canterbury, it is guaranteed that only a place like Thanington Hotel can fascinate with its original charm. Tourists find the accommodation offered to be quite splendid, enjoying both the elegance and history this Canterbury hotel proudly displays.

You should not think that by visiting a historic town like Canterbury you cannot find comfortable accommodations. On the contrary, there are many elegant hotels in Canterbury, including the one that was mentioned in the paragraph above. The rooms have been refurbished, with the same elegant style being maintained for all guests to enjoy. Facilities such as private parking, indoor swimming pool and private bar are offered upon checking-in; as for the rooms, they have modern TVs and wireless Internet connections. Surely, when choosing a Canterbury hotel, you will consider the location. It is important to find hotels in Canterbury that have beautiful gardens, giving you the opportunity to relax and forget about ever being stressed.

Granted, the entire world is filled with destinations that are unique and important to discover. It can be said, leaving modesty aside, that Canterbury is one of the most beautiful and exciting places to visit. Finding hotels in Canterbury and checking yourself into one of them is only the start of an adventure. In Canterbury, history is alive and bustling with excitement, welcoming tourists that arrive from all corners of the world. Numerous attractions reveal themselves one by one in the eyes of the tourists, demonstrating that England has a lot to offer, especially when it comes to historic sites!

We are confident that we can help when it comes to finding hotels in Canterbury. Trust our website and search for a Canterbury hotel that fits your preferences in every way. We are glad to be of assistance and we hope that you enjoy your stay while visiting this rather unique part of England!

TerrazzoRichard Dasch is President of Rose Restoration International, celebrating 30 Years of Marble & Stone Restoration in the world's finest hotels.